Video competition "Active Citizenship"

Prizewinner Angela Foresta from Sicily (with Roberto Muffoletto) with her entry "Able to communicate for active citizenship".

The viducate 2010 video competition for educators and media activists was linked with the "2nd European Forum for Video Education" which took place on the 1st and 2nd October 2010 in central Berlin - asking for creative contributions of up to 3 minutes which are self explanatory without the use of verbal language. All genres were allowed and the film should be centred on the subject of active citizenship, should directly or indirectly show how to empower citizens to exercise and defend their democratic rights and responsibilities in society.
